

MANY RULINGS ARE MADE FOR MEN IN DRAFT

Re-Classifications Will Affect Local Men Under Next Call to Colors of Men in Maricopa County

Harry L. Hurley, who has a contract with the city to carry off the city's shops with which to feed his hogs, who is interested in a local packing house and a local meat market, was placed in Class 2-D by the district board yesterday, on the ground that he is an industrial worker the city cannot very well do without. The district board in its decision reversed the local board who had Hurley in Class 1-D.

Frank N. Briggs, will remain where he is, in Class 1, the district board having sustained the local board of Maricopa county.

Earl Lewis Rouse of Yuma county, upon receipt of a letter from his mother and other relatives, endeavored to get put into some other class than Class 1, but the district board sustained the local board, with the provision however, that Rouse could have five days in which to join the navy, if he wished; otherwise he is to report to his local board for military service.

Eleven were placed in Class 3-F, the friendly alien class, by the district board, after examination of their papers. They are James Sanchez of Williams, Cirilo Bernardino of Flagstaff, Jose Jauriqui of Flagstaff, Juan Garcia of Williams, Marcan Salazar of Flagstaff, Helen Torres of Flagstaff, Celso M. Mendoza of Tucson, Angel Moinegana of Flagstaff, Dee T. Roberts (Mexican) of Holbrook, Juan Flores of Prescott and Fernan Garcia of Prescott.

Lee Bennett, of Flagstaff, who failed to get his questionnaire in time, was, upon recommendation of the local board, placed in Class 4-A.

Norman Carpenter of Maricopa county was declared by the district board to be physically disqualified for military service. He was wounded by gunshot in the knee.

Paul Myerhoff of Mohave was declared physically disqualified on account of poor eyesight. Physicians tests showed his eyesight only 3-200 per cent, which is almost blindness.

Michael H. Strout, 200 East Washington street, Phoenix, was assigned to partial military service, in mechanical lines, upon recommendation of the local board.

LOCAL MEN FORMING FOR HAY PRODUCTION

Edward Pattee and Elijah Allen, who have been appointed by the food administrator, Mr. Buckingham, to organize the hay growers of the valley, met with the farmers of Chandler recently and the articles of association were discussed, and probably all of the hay growers that were present became members of the association.

Mr. Pattee and Mr. Allen are on their way to Glendale, Peoria and Scottsdale to appoint a committee who will work in the interest of the hay growers' association. The government wants 75 per cent of the hay that is shipped from the Salt River valley but they can not get it in sufficient quantities from a sufficient number of growers, and it behooves the hay growers to organize therefore.

There are 55,000 acres of alfalfa in the Salt River valley and 65,000 acres to go for hay. There are 10,700 hay growers in the Salt River valley.

Heart Loyal If Not Just Right For Call of War

"I've don't understand why I've hasn't gone to war yet," said a negro man who appeared at the local board headquarters yesterday.

"Name," said Secretary Weyant. Name was given and the records searched, but name could not be found.

"Are you sure you are registered?" asked Weyant.

"I've not sure about dad, but I've been waitin' for about five months to be called, and I've hasn't got no call yet."

"Are you ready for service?" was asked.

"Ready? Lands alive, man, I've been ready for five months, waitin' round here in this town till I've about ready to jump out of my skin."

"How old are you?"

"I've not sartin about dad."

"Let me see your teeth?" asked Weyant. Mouth was opened, then:

"Is dad the way you tells ages in de army?"

"You're too old," said Weyant. "You're past 60."

"Whats dat got to do with de war? I was told to hold myself in readiness and I've hasn't gone to war yet. But I've waitin' honey, even if I ain't got no teef."

Of Course These Boys Will Get The Republican

There are some things in this world better than money; that go much farther than money, everybody has heard that before, but not many people believe it because they have not had a concrete example of it; so they think it is bunk. But here is a proof of it. Here is a letter that is worth more than 75 cents a month or $9 a year, the subscription price of The Republican:

Mare Island, Calif.,
June 16, 1918.
Editor, The Arizona Republican,
Phoenix, Arizona.

Dear Sir:

We, the undersigned Phoenixians, at present serving flag and country amid the ranks of Company C, United States Marine Corps, being possessed of the desire but natural to loyal citizens of Phoenix, the desire namely, for information, news, tidings from that beloved community we have left behind, do sir, address you herewith, and implore and beseech that, with the spirit which all true Phoenixians have toward one another, you do relieve these hankerings and cravings, and if not a daily, at least send to us an occasional copy of your illustrious publication.

In return for such priceless favor, we pledge ourselves not only to continue our efforts in proclaiming yours as the best newspaper in the Southwest but further, to exert ourselves to the utmost in welding popular opinion to the effect that better than all others in the West is the Arizona Republican.

Trusting to receive a favorable reply and awaiting the same with the greatest anxiety, we are
Yours very truly,
(Signed)

NINE COUNTIES 73 COMMUNITIES WENT OVER TOP

Roll of Honor Placed on Exhibition at Capitol To Show What Was Done By State for Big Loan

According to the honor roll prepared by the state and placed on exhibition in a glass case in the lower corridor of the capitol, nine counties and 73 towns and communities of Arizona went "over the top" in their subscriptions for the third Liberty loan.

This honor roll was prepared by the draughtsmen in the engineering department of the commission of state institutions. Stars after each name show the number of times, in excess of one, the town went "over the top." According to this roll, Superior holds the record, with 22 stars. Pinal has thirteen.

Following is the list on the honor roll:

Counties—Apache, Coconino, Gila, (3); Maricopa, Mohave (2); Navajo, Pinal (13); Yavapai, Yuma.

FOUR ENROLL TO GO TO MERCHANT MARINE

The Owl Drug company of Phoenix, special enrollment agent for the United States shipping board last week signed up the following men for training as apprentices in the merchant marine:

Robert C. Broughton, Jesse O. Tibbets, George F. Soule and Tom Edmond.

These apprentices are now awaiting notices as to acceptance by the training service of the shipping board. Applicants accepted are sent at government expense to a seaport and placed on a training ship there for special training for two months, at $20 a month, before being shipped in regular merchant crews at higher wages. They agree to serve for the term of the war and are exempted from the draft.

STICKING VALVE CAPS

Valve caps have a way of sticking in place so as to defy all ordinary efforts to dislodge them. When this happens, it is a good plan to cut out a section of the rim with a cold chisel and then drill a series of 3-16 inch holes from this cut out section of the rim up to the threads. Enlarge this series of drill holes into a slot with the chisel and then give the rim a smart tap with a steel bar or other convenient piece of stock. This will bend the cap or crack it, so that it can be easily unscrewed.
